In Memoriam Melvin Greenberg

Mel Greenberg, one of the two founding partners of Greenberg Dauber Epstein & Tucker, was a litigator for almost forty years, specializing in business litigation and appeals before both Federal and New Jersey State courts. A graduate of New York University Law School, Mel also received his B.A. from New York University (cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa).

Mel was recognized by his peers as one of the Top 100 Super Lawyers in New Jersey (2007-09), was listed in Best Lawyers in America, Business Litigation (2003-2010) and New York Magazine's Directory of Area's Best Lawyers (2005-2009).

Prior to forming the firm, Mel was an Assistant United States Attorney for the District of New Jersey where he participated in the prosecution of major political corruption, securities fraud and tax evasion cases. In the firm's practice, Mel represented businesses, professionals, banks and insurance companies in complex cases, many of which resulted in reported decisions and the creation of new law. Mel was widely respected as a formidable adversary, a skilled trial lawyer, and a consummate professional – a man of unquestioned integrity. His death in September 2012 was a loss to the firm and the profession.
